March 2, 2015

Employee equity can be a powerful incentive, a tax effective and therefore efficient form of payment, and a net contributor to cash flow, among other things. The extent to which these plans are effective in these and other respects depends on company and employee circumstances. With decades of accumulated experience in assessing the need for, developing, implementing, and maintaining employee equity plans, Guerdon Associates is in a unique position to assist companies considering implementing or changing them.
