

Information Services

March 2, 2015

Virtually no remuneration or performance analysis is too big or too small to be handled by Guerdon Associates' GuerdonData® information services. This includes accessing and analysing public domain data and documents from anywhere in the world, special surveys, more complex actuarial, financial or economic analyses, international and cross industry comparisons, re-valuation of options using a common rationale across all companies, etc. In addition, we can apply our unique data technologies to ensure that future analyses with the same parameters can be conducted more efficiently than with a 100% reliance on manual methods. And lastly, we can apply the latest web technologies to ensure immediate accessibility anywhere at any time.
